

Welcome to Turku UAS International Week 2023

3 - 5 May 2023 in Turku, Finland

Towards a better tomorrow. Current approaches to improving health care and well-being

Turku UAS International Week 2023 is organized by the Faculty of Health and Well-being. It brings together both teachers and international staff, giving an opportunity to share your expertise, give a lecture for students and colleagues or to plan and create new initiatives together.

The theme for the week is Towards a better tomorrow. Current approaches to improving health care and well-being. We welcome lectures and presentations with topics related to the following degree programmes: Biomedical Laboratory Science, Dental Hygiene, Dental technology, Physiotherapy, Radiography and Radiotherapy, Social Services, Occupational Therapy, Nursing (Nursing, Midwifery, Emergency Care, Public Health Nursing) and Turku UAS Master School. The week offers an opportunity to share your experiences with colleagues from around the world.

The Turku UAS Faculty of Health and Well-being educates future professionals to work in the field of health care and social services. The starting point for the teaching activities at Turku UAS is innovation pedagogy, a learning approach emphasizing multidisciplinary, experimental and practice-oriented learning. We are one of the actors of the Health Campus Turku, a significant multidisciplinary education cluster formed by four higher education institutions and a university hospital.

Registration link and more information on our website:

<https://internationalweek.turkuamk.fi/events/>

Deadline for registrations:
15th of February 2023

Participation fee: 150 €

A detailed programme of the week will be published in March 2023.

Questions? Contact
HEWEinternational@turkuamk.fi